$20,000 alloted for Bicentennial

PLEASANTON — The City of Pleasanton became an official "Bicentennial Community" Monday night when the city council guaranteed $20,000 for projects celebrating the nation's 200th birthday.

The council's action makes it possible for the local Bicentennial Committee to become a tax exempt organization capable of raising funds to cover that $20,000 guarantee.

Included in the $20,000 is a $5,000 loan to the committee for "start up costs," Committee Chairman Ken Mercer told the council. The "priority" Bicentennial projects are a school flag program ($300), historical site plaques ($2,000), Century House museum ($2,000), an essay and poster contest for youths ($500) and a municipal bandstand and improvements for the Cultural Arts Center ($10,200).

Improvements for the Cultural Arts Center had originally been included on the "non-priority" list and most of the discussion Monday night centered on whether that project should be placed on the "priority" list in lieu of the proposed bandstand.

Mercer and Festival Chairman Charlotte Severin said they had no qualms about switching the two but Severin added, "I would not like to see the bandstand dropped completely."

Mercer explained the bandstand had generated a "lot of enthusiasm". City Manager Bill Edgar had suggested the switch because the bandstand was proposed for Amador Community Park and he felt too many structures are being placed in that park. In addition, Edgar said, "With several projects underway at the present time such as Century House and the Cultural Arts Building, it might be wiser to concentrate our efforts in these areas rather than begin a new project."

The committee representatives admitted there are problems with the proposed location of the bandstand and added they had first considered Wayside Park. Because of litigation involving that park, however, that idea was discarded.

Mercer emphasized, "I think the bandstand has a lot of merit and will present a lot to the community." He added, however, he agreed with Edgar that too many buildings were being planned for Amador Park.

Severin explained the committee's concept of a municipal band to play in the proposed bandstand. She said the band could be scheduled as an adult education course which would take care of the costs of hiring a musical director. "We were thinking about starting municipal band practices in April," she added, so the band would be ready when the bandstand is completed.

Eventually, the council agreed to lump the bandstand together with improvements for the Cultural Arts Center on the "priority" list.

"Non-priority" items which will be undertaken once the committee has raised $20,000 to take care of the "priority" items include: a $1,000 papier mache model of Pleasanton, $100,000 for completion of the Amador High School auditorium, $1,000 for a Pleasanton history book, $2,500 for appreciation awards, and undetermined amounts for arroyo horse and bike trails and a valley wide festival.

The nation's Bicentennial celebration will continue for a decade beginning in 1976.

THE ERA OF DOOR-TO-DOOR MAIL DELIVERY MAY BE OVER

New case may end door-to-door mail

"Neither snow, nor rain, nor sleet, nor hail" has deterred the neighborhood postman from his appointed rounds for well over a hundred years.

Now, however, inflation may succeed where the weather failed.

Like many other cities across the nation, Pleasanton has been resisting the United States Postal Service's ukase that all new subdivisions be equipped with curbside mailboxes, rather than the traditional front door mail slot or box.

Grover City, California has filed suit against the USPS contesting that dictum and the outcome of that litigation, scheduled to go to trial Feb. 18, may have far-reaching impact on all mail delivery.

Pleasanton City Attorney Ken Scheidig told the city council Monday night if the postal service is successful in that suit, it will probably result in the eventual elimination of "door-to-door mail delivery for all residential areas" not just new subdivisions.

Eight years ago, when the postal service first attempted to put its curbside delivery edict into effect, Pleasant prepared its own lawsuit but never went to court because the postal service delayed implementation to an unspecified future date.

The city, however, did pass an ordinance making it illegal for homeowners in new subdivisions to erect curbside mailboxes. Those residents have thus been without any mail delivery at all and have had to travel to the post office to receive their mail.

The city and post office devised a plan to help those residents during the busy holiday season by establishing sub-stations in the Val Vista and Pleasanton Meadows subdivisions — where new tracts have been built in the past several years.

That was only a temporary solution, however, and after the first of the year, those residents were again forced to travel to the post office for their mail and magazines.

Twenty-eight Val Vista residents fowarded a petition to Councilwoman Joyce LeClaire seeking relief. They asked the council to either amend their ordinance to allow curbside mailboxes or to reinstate the sub-station in their tract.

After discussing the matter Monday night, the council decided to delay taking action until the Grover City suit goes to court since the outcome of that litigation may well result in the demise of door-to-door mail delivery in all residential areas.

Dance studio trial begins

LIVERMORE — Cupid has his day in court, Tuesday, as proceedings to evict the Cupid Dance Studio of Dublin began in Livermore Municipal Court.

In a suit filed last October, attorneys for lessee Peter Giordanenge claim Jerry Vargas and Lola Sears, operators of the topless and nude dancing studio, violated their lease by altering the building, placing an unauthorized sign on the face of the 7108 Village Parkway business, conducting an unlawful business, and using the premises not solely as a dance studio.

Preliminary jockeying between attorney Michael E. Kyle and Vargas elicited Vargas' claim that petitions within the building were not "up to code" when Vargas moved in, and that any additions or alterations by Vargas are "removable without damage to the structure."

The thrust of Kyle's argument came later, however, when two witnesses testified to a Jan. 19, post-Super Bowl encounter with "Katie".

Katie, the first witness testified, told his party of three men the dance studio was run "just like a massage parlour. We handle everything," she reportedly told the witness.

"Then she put her hands out and said, 'If you're the police, take me away,'" according to the witness.

The first witness had been the unfortunate loser of an unspecified Super Bowl bet. "I went in last," he volunteered.

"We were there from 9 p.m. to 11:20 p.m.," he continued.

The evening's entertainment apparently was not limited to everything Katie could handle, as 8 mm movies depicting "every sex act imaginable" were shown, according to the witness, in their private cubicle.

Three signs hung in the waiting room, he continued. One offering topless dancing at $15 for 15 minutes, nude dancing at $20 for fifteen minutes, or $25 for 30 minutes of nude dancing.

A second sign apparently was directed at police, requiring name, rank, badge number, shift, and the admonition to remain in the waiting room or "we will prosecute."

The third sign directed patrons to BJ,s in Hayward, should Cupid be closed.

None of the signs pertained to the business at hand, he testified.

"Did Katie at any time dance?" queried Kyle.

"No," responded the witness.

Vargas' and Sears' defense was a bit diffuse, as attorney John W. Noonan had taken over the case last Friday from Lewis Wies, who had taken it from his partner Richard Hardin. Hardin is in Merritt Hospital with complications resulting from a broken arm.

Noonan moved the testimony be dismissed because the alleged actions took place after the filing of the complaint, but Judge John A. Lewis denied the motion.

Under cross examination the witness, whose name Kyle asked be withheld from publication, testified that he did not see Vargas on the premises, that Katie was the only girl working that night, and that he talked her down from the original $50 per person to three for $140.

Kyle's second witness corroborated the first's story Katie he described as "short, with long blonde hair, (and) a little heavy."

"The sign said $15, $20, and $25, but that's not what was going on," he testified. "I didn,t have any choice," he added, "I just took what I got."

No, he said, she did not dance.

Kyle's third witness, a Valley journalist, described his encounter with "Amber," new to Adult Dancing, just after the studio opened.

It was offered for $30, he said, noting an advance call could procure "beatings, and things," although Amber hadn't participated in that field.

"She said she made good money, though."

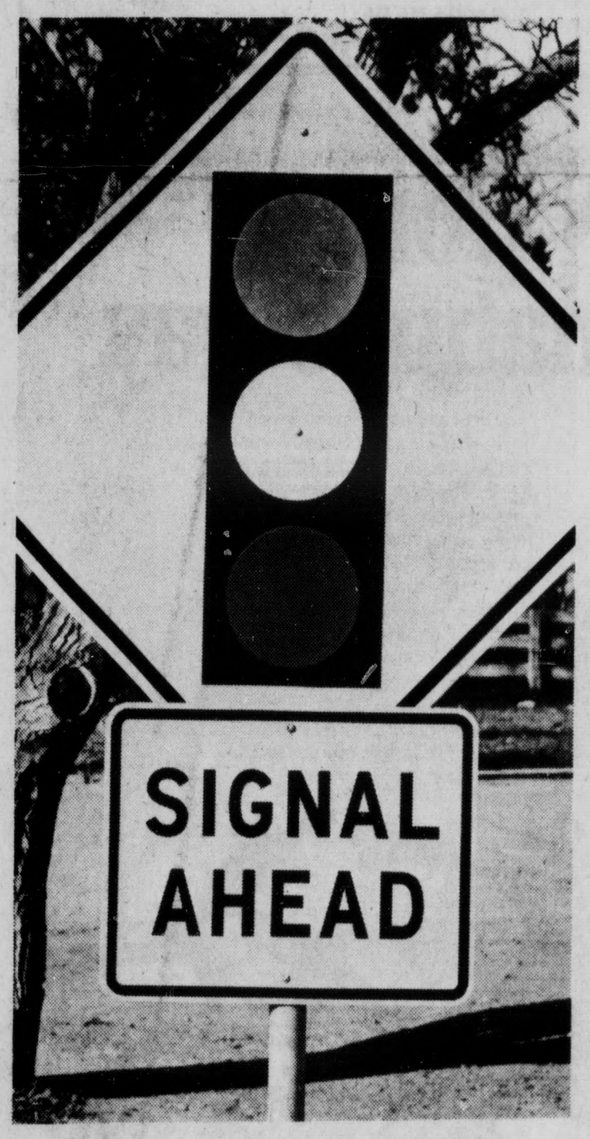
The movie, he continued, was about two girl scouts selling cookies door to door. They enter a household, disrobe, and perform, noted the witness, non-girl scout functions.

The writer claimed his published piece was a second draft, since his editor termed the first, "not in good taste."

Did she dance?

"No, she disrobed and we only talked," he added.

The proceedings have been continued to next Tuesday at 9:30 a.m., Livermore Municipal Court.



SIGNAL AHEAD FOR MAIN STREET?

Traffic light may land on Main St.

PLEASANTON—Is there a mechanical monster in Main Street's future?

Maybe so.

Some members of the city council believe it is time to dust off plans for a traffic signal at the corner of Main Street and St. Marys Street.

That signal created a storm of controversy in the fall of 1970 when it was first proposed. At that time, the Main-St. Marys intersection was number one on the priority list for traffic signal installation.

Because of the furor raised by merchants and citizens who believed the signal, the "mechanical monster", would not be in keeping with downtown's "Heritage" image, however, the signal was removed from the priority list and relegated to the back of the file.

"Times have changed," Mayor Floyd Mori saidMonday night. He added the plans and specifications for that signal have been completed and perhaps the time is ripe to bring the matter up again.

City Manager Bill Edgar urged the council to wait until the city's signal priority list has been updated before scheduling the matter for a hearing.

Sometime in the next month, however, a traffic signal at the heart of Pleasanton's downtown will be the subject of council scrutiny.

Federal money to go for 'public facilities'

PLEASANTON — The city's $221,536 in federal community development funds will be spent on "public facilities".

That term is deliberately broad because the city council could not decide Monday night on specific projects for those funds.

According to the requirements for receiving the funds, however, the application must be filed by Friday so the councilmade its application in a form which allows them the greatest flexibility.

A third hearing on how those funds should be spent will be held Feb. 10. At the first public hearing, only two citizens showed up to give their ideas. Monday night, one additional citizen suggested a project.

After compiling the recommendations of all city departmpnts, the staff had recommended spending the money, which will become available over a three-year period, on replacing water lines in the Harris Acres area and extending Peters Street from Division to Rose Avenue.

The council, while not ruling out those possibilities, wanted to re-consider the specific projects during the Feb. 10 hearing.

Charlotte Severin proposed Monday night the funds be used to acquire the Wayside Park area and to restore the old train station on Neal Street.

Planning Director Bob Harris said that idea had been considered but because of current litigation involving the Southern Pacific Railroad Company and the heirs of the original owner of the property, Harris said he doubted whether the project could be completed within the required three-year period. Harris, however, said the staff would give that project further consideration prior to the Feb. 10 meeting.

Director of Housing and Community Developmpnt John Bowling assured the council, if their resolution were phrased in the broadest possible terms, it could later be amended to include specific projects. In the first year, he added, the city will only receive slightly more than $36,000 and "we're not going to have enough money in the first year to do anything."

Teacher coalition sets goals

Uniting for cost - of - living raises, fringe benefits, favorable personnel policies and better working conditions are the goals of the infant Valley Teacher Coalition.

Boasting members from San Ramon, Pleasanton, Dublin and Livermore teachers' associations (excluding the Pleasanton elementary teachers), the new coalition has announced its aims for the spring bargaining season that will begin soon.

Each of the four member professional associations will include in their proposals for the 1975 - 76 school year:

A cost of living adjustment — size not determined yet.

Fully paid fringe benefits for employes and dependents.

Basic personnel policies in each district "that reflect democratic principles, basic human rights and an effective, responsible teacher voice in policy making."

Working conditions "that allow teachers to provide all children an equal educational opportunity to master the basic skills."

Coalition members have made clear their intention to sit in on each others' bargaining sessions in the various Valley school districts, for information and moral support.

Valley Memorial Hospital workers may organize

LIVERMORE — The non - professional workers at Valley Memorial Hospital may be about to unionize.

The National Labor Relations Board in San Francisco is expected to set a date in February for an election in which hospital employes will decide whether or not they want to unionize.

The proposal has been expected since last year, when non - profit hospitals lost their longstanding exempt status from provisions of the Taft - Hartley Act.

Local 250 of the Hospital and Institutional Workers' Union, AFL - CIO, has filed a petition with the NLRB seeking to represent employes at the Valley's only community hospital.

In a letter to VMH, the union states it would represent the nursing department including licensed vocational nurses (LVN's), nurses' aides, attendants, orderlies, ward clerks, respiratory therapy technicians; housekeeping department including housekeepers, janitors, linen room employes; dietary department including cooks, food service workers, dietary helpers, diet clerks and dishwashers; excluding professional and clerical employes, stationary engineers, guards, watchmen and supervisors.

The NLRB has set up a hearing Feb. 13 to decide on the appropriate bargaining units and the rules for the election. It will then set a date for an election in which hospital employes will decide whether or not they want to unionize.

The announcement of the impending election, made by VMH yesterday, coincides with prospective hospital rate increases discussed at last week's hospital board meeting which would provide an increase in health insurance benefits and a cost - of - living increase for VMH employes.

City invests $12,000 in special state census

PLEASANTON — Agreeing it was a "good gamble", the city council approved contracting with the state for a $12,000 special census Monday night.

Assistant to the City Manager Jim Walker told the council the city estimates its population is 400 to 500 higher than the state figure and, if that can be proven by a special census, the city stands to gain $25,000 to $35,000 over the next five years in increased state subventions.

The census will most likely take place in March and will include a questionnaire to be compiled by the city staff. One of the advantages of the census, Walker said, is it provides an "opportunity for a 100 percent sampling of the community."

GOALS FOR 1975-76

During a review of preliminary goals for the 1975-76 fiscal year, Councilman Bill Herlihy said he believed the city is slighting its maintenance budget by "some $250,000 to $300,000" and added, "I think our parks are in trouble. We have to look at how we're going to maintain them."

Herlihy said he also disagreed with the Recreation Department's goal of providing a year-round aquatic program. "We ought to take a look at that in view of the energy problems," he added. "I would rather see that gas used to keep someone working than heating the pool year-round."

Walker said the preliminary goals for the city would be further refined and presented to the city council when they begin budget review for the coming year.

CULTURAL ARTS CENTER

The council approved financing the Cultural Arts Center through unallocated revenue sharing and capital improvement funds.

A total of $40,000 of the $100,-000 facility, which will be located at Amador Community Park, has already been allocated. Capital improvement funds will finance $23,200 of the remainder while revenue sharing funds will be used to complete the financing.

Walker explained the city staff believed it advisable to finance the project through its own funds — since they were available — rather than borrow the funds because of current high interest rates.

In other action, the council:

— Approved plans and specifications and authorized going to bid on the $50,000 first phase of Century Park;

— Agreed to re-plant trees in the defunct World of Nations Pathway of Trees along Santa Rita Road, rather than attempting to replace them at the original sitp at Amador Park;

— Approved the removal of two Heritage trees, one on the Jerry Bindi property on St. Marys Street and one on the Robert Ettenborough property at 4092 Walnut Drive; and

—Continued the public hearing on the environmental impact report on the city's sewer project report until March 17.

Sound equipment stolen

PLEASANTON — Police here are investigating the possibility that an employe or patron of the Pleasanton Hotel hid in the building at closing time and then walked out the front door with sound equipment valued at $1,128.

An amplifier top, microphone mixer and microphone were taken from the hotel from the band platform in the bar area where it was left covered Sunday, Jan. 19.

The theft was reported the following Friday, when band member Gidio J. Covarelli returned to the hotel and discovered the loss.

According to Terry Hufft who resides at the hotel in an upstairs room, he heard noise in the hallway "like someone walking around," in the early morning of Jan. 19

Supervisors approve court consolidation

OAKLAND — A preliminary consolidation of Livermore - Pleasanton Justice Courts was approved Tuesday by the Alameda County Board of Supervisors.

The change will find Livermore with two court rooms instead of the current single room and continued operation of the Pleasanton court.

Alameda County Administrator Loren Enoch told the board the change would provide an extra valley courtroom for some $4000 while awaiting completion of the East County Government Center.

Completion of the center is expected to take some ten years.

Meanwhile, July 1 has been set for consolidation of the Livermore - Pleasanton judicial district.

The $4000 is something of a bargain since the Livermore facility is already slated for some remodeling, Enoch said.

In other action Tuesday, supervisors agreed to tour Del Valle Sanitarium Thursday. The old facility should be turned into a youth home for troubled teens, representatives from Buena Vidas Youth Ranch say.

Supervisors agreed to see the grounds as the first step in determining if they will hear proposals for development of the sanitarium. The officials will also Thursday tour the potential sites for the new East County Government Center.

In other business, supervisors heard Alameda County Grand Jury Foreman Joe Grodin say the jury has agreed unanimously Snedigar Cottage in San Leandro should be transformed from institutionalized, jail - like facility to more of a "home away from home."

The cottage, a facility for threatened children of delinquent parents has been run by the county probation department, he told the board. Although recently transfered to the auspices of the welfare department, "the transfer seems to be in name only," Grodin said.

"Children are met with dark hallways, locked doors, archaic reward and punishment systems, rigidity and little if any privacy," he said.

Grodin told the board the jury usually waited until the end of its term to submit reports but the current body preferred to bring forth interim reports on matters "we think require the attention of you, the county and the public."

Supervisors referred the matter to affected agencies and promised a report soon.

The cottage takes children from 6 to 12, with younger deserted children sent automatically to emergency foster homes.

"Why do all those kids have to be there in the first place?" asked Supervisor Thomas Bates. "Why don't we put them all into private homes?"

Grodin said the jury had found that a desireable solution for the 60 to 90 children housed at the cottage on a given day.

In other action supervisors granted a variance to Walter Fries of Livermore to build on a filled lot at 1077 Kilkare Road, Sunol.

Supervisors also approved the expenditure of some $50,000 as the first installment in court costs for the Sacramento trial of Joseph Remiro and Russell Little.

The Alameda County case was transfered to Sacramento after appeal to the state appellate court. State law provides for reimbursement of court costs when change of venue is granted.

Supervisors urged county attorneys to seek precedent for state reimbursement for the court costs.

The trial of the two men accused of killing Marcus Foster is expected to last four to six months and could cost up to $100,000

Supervisors in other action approved the sale of $12,570,000 in Amador Valley Joint Union High School District bonds. The sale of the bonds will finance expansion of Foothill High School.

New Health Care Director

Monday was the first day on the job for Mike O'Connor, new director of the Pleasanton Health Care Center on Railroad Avenue. Here, Mike is greeted at the office door by Marge Hammer, temporary director, who will be taking a position as clinic coordinator of the Family Health Care Center of Dublin - San Ramon.

Three candidates file statements

Only three of the 15 candidates for the 15th Assembly District had filed their second campaign disclosure statements by the 5 p.m. Tuesday deadline.

Unless the other 12 candidates dispatched their disclosure statements via registered mail with a postmark prior to the deadline, they will be in violation of the first campaign disclosure period that comes under the Political Reform Act of 1974.

The three candidates who filed statements with the Alameda County Registrar of Voters' office Tuesday are Josh Jelincic, Joyce LeClaire and Douglas Morrisson.

LeClaire indicated in the period from Jan. 6 to Jan. 25, she received $127 and spent $3,820.98. Her total receipts, including the first disclosure period, were $5,177 and total expenditures were $4,715.98. LeClaire also reported liabilities as of Jan. 25 of $628 and a $23.02 surplus.

Morrisson listed his receipts for the second disclosure period as $6,750.87, bringing his total to $7,663.86. Total expenditures for the period were $1,575.27, bringing that total to $1,986.48. As of Jan. 25, Morrisson indicated liabilities of $5,420.87 and a $47.54 deficit.

Josh Jelincic, who failed to file the first disclosure statement, listed total revenues of $275, expenditures of $118, liabilities of $700 and a $464 deficit as of Jan. 25.

Two candidates, Lonnie Moore and Rudy Triviso, have not complied with either the first or second disclosure deadline.

UCB purchases bonds

Foothill construction assured

PLEASANTON — Phase II construction of Foothill High School cleared a critical barrier Tuesday with awarding of a bid at 6.10 percent from United California Bank.

The County Board of Supervisors received six bids on the $2.57 million in bonds put up by the Amador Valley Joint High School District.

Next step in the process towards bringing Foothill to completion for an eventual 1,500 students comes February 18. On that date the Amador district will complete printing of the bonds and trade the bonds and coupons to United California Bank for their money.

Shortly after, at a special board meeting that would be called for February 18, the low bid of Armand Construction Company of San Jose would be considered. Armand's bid, as did four others, came in under the budgeted amount for phase II construction.

Upon awarding of the bid, construction then could begin on three buildings included in Phase II. This could be as early as April.

Doug Rose, Assistant Superintendent for Business Services, said "we are delighted with the results of the bond sale." The part played by the district's bond consultants, Stone and Youngberg, in "drumming up a sale" was also noted.

The district had originally tried to sell the bonds a year ago but an "unfavorable market" caused them to withdraw the bonds. Amador then sought a ballot measure, a bond interest "update," to gain permission from voters to offer the bonds at a maximum seven per cent.

The measure passed in November by a scant three percentage points.

Stone and Youngberg then sent out some 200 notices to financial institutions to encourage a sale.

Other bids received by the Board of Supervisors Tuesday included Crocker National, 6.295 per cent; Bank of America, 6.297 per cent; Wells Fargo, 6.35; Security Pacific, 6.39, and Bank of California, 6.48. The bond interest index has been at 6.45 per cent this week.

At a special Amador board meeting Tuesday evening, trustees reviewed plans for Phase II construction and expenditure on bond monies.

The Armand Construction bid was $1,916,000, as compared with the $2.57 million in bond monies remaining.

Trustees also considered three alternate bids for additional paved play area, a running track and parking, at $43,900; service roads, electrical service and parking, at $46,835, and a synthetic gymnasium floor surface, at an undisclosed amount.

Trustees also expressed elation at the successful bond sale.

Hall hasn't heard from hopeful racers

PLEASANTON — County Fairgrounds manager Lee Hall today reiterated that no one representing greyhound racing interests has approached management or Fair Association directors concerning future use of Fairgrounds facilities for dog racing.

Also, Hall said no one connected with the Fairgrounds had made any contact with the Golden State Greyhound Racing Association, the group that is anxious to setup parimutuel greyhound race betting if a bill presently before the state legislature is passed.

An executive with the Sacramento — based association reportedly made statements indicating a strong interest in use of the Fairgrounds race track as a site for greyhound racing.

The executive, a George Hardy, had indicated that a greyhound track could be situated on the present race facility, plus altering of two holes on the Pleasanton Fairways golf course.

The latter elicited particular surprise from Fairways operator Ronald Curtola, who had not been apprised of such a scheme by the greyhound association.

Assemblyman Leon Ralph, D-Los Angeles, introduced his bill which would permit greyhound racing and betting on same in early January. Ralph's bill, AB 455, calls for racing in the five largest California counties, including Alameda.

Horsemen and their representative associations are solidly against greyhound racing, particularly when mutual use of a racing facility is considered.

Valley obituaries

Dena Rienecker

Dena Louisp Rienecker, 16, a native of Walnut Creek but a lifelong resident of Livermore, was killed in an auto accident Monday, near Dixon, California.

A student at Livermore High School, she is survived by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Rienecker and her brother, Erich, Livermore, her paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Rienecker, Sr., Pleasanton, and her maternal grandmother, Rose Edington, Dublin.

At the request of the family, no funeral services are being held. Arrangements are under the direction of Callaghan Mortuary, Livermore.

The family requests contributions in her memory to one's favorite charity.

Water Quality Control hearings begin

OAKLAND—Hearings begin Friday at 9:30 a.m. over the controversial Water Quality Control plan for the San Francisco Bay Basin.

The plan, designed to provide a plan for future water management in the San Francisco basin, sets forth requirements that will prevent Valley dischargers from sending effluent from the Valley through Alameda Creek.

Public testimony will taken at Friday's hearing at the Edgewater Hyatt House, Oakland Airport, 455 Hegenberger Road and Saturday's hearing at 9:30 a.m. at the Emeryville Holiday Inn, 1800 Powell St., Emeryville.

$10,000 fire

DUBLIN — An overheated pan on a kitchen range at 8611 Wicklow Lane resulted in more than $10,000 in damages to the home, according to the VCSD Fire Department. The fire occured at 3 p.m. Sunday afternoon.

Another Dublin kitchen fire — at 8584 Wicklow Lane — caused an estimated $250 in damages at about 7 p..m Saturday. According to the firemen, the blaze was caused by overheated grease.

New bill could save county dollars

Lesher News Bureau

SACRAMENTO — Assemblyman Gene Gualco, D-Sacramento, has introduced a bill he says would save Alameda County $738,513 and Contra Costa County $545,028.

"My legislation would prevent a massive shift of federal and state costs onto the local property taxpayer," Gualco says.

The former Sacramento County supervisor says the proposal would appropriate $11 million to the California Benefit Payments Department to maintain county payments at current levels.

He says the federal Health, Education and Welfare (HEW) Department has begun withholding these funds from the state, claiming it owes the $11 million because of high welfare claims the state submitted from 1968-70.

The freshman legislator says the problem began in 1968 with a state regulatory letter directing counties to submit claims for certain federal social services money at 75 per cent of total costs.

However, HEW only formally approved 50 per cent claiming, but the state provided counties with forms and instructions calling for 75 per cent claiming.

Gualco says the claiming formula — which he says was directed by the state — continued in effect until 1970 when federal regulations were changed.

The counties received no further word on the issue until September, 1974, Gualco says.

It was then that HEW submitted a claim to the state based on an audit disallowance going back to 1968-70. The $11 million claim represents the difference between the 50 and 75 per cent formulas.

California then announced plans to shift the $11 million burden to the counties, he says, with the benefit payments department withholding counties public assistance payments.

Gualco says the first withholding action will begin March 1.

He says, "the state and federal government are simply trying to get the counties to pay for errors they, the counties, didn't make.

"Counties administered this program under the strict rules and regulations of the state.

"Counties should pay for their own mistakes, but not for the bungling of the state and federal governments."

The Gualco plan, which is supported by the County Supervisors Association of California, would take effect immediately, if signed.

Big SRV site eyed as preserve

The Contra Costa County Board of Supervisors will hear testimony on 13,555 acres — including a large site in San Ramon Valley — proposed for agricultural preserve zoning Feb. 11.

The parcels, located throughout the county, represent 26 separate requests to add to 67,000 acres already zoned agricultural preserve.

The classification is open to any sites of at least 100 acres used for agricultural purposes. The advantage is a tax break for the property owner and a guarantee that the land will not be rezoned for at least 10 years

The 13,550 acres include two large central county chunks. The first, 3,136 acres fronting on both sides of Dougherty Road, one-half mile south of Tassajara Road, is in the San Ramon Valley.

The second is 2,325 acres off Lawrence Road in the Brentwood area.

The agricultural preserve district was set up in 1965 following a state act to encourage preservation of agricultural parcels.

Each parcel must be at least 20 acres in size and must be contkguous with at least 80 other acres to form the 100 acre minimum.

Air defense

Army Second Lieutenant William D. Fowler, son of Mr. and Mrs. Claude W. Fowler, 7389 Newcastle Lane, Dublin, completed a 12 - week air defense artillery officer basic course at the U.S. Army Air Defense School, Ft. Bliss, Tex.

The course provides training in the operations and tactics of the Army's air defense weapons system. Instruction also is included in nuclear weapons and communications, supply and maintenance procedures, and air defense field exercise.

Emergency Fund Center to meet

LIVERMORE — The annual meeting of the Livermore - Amador Valley Emergency Fund Center will be held Thursday evening, Feb. 13, at 7:30 p.m. in the Fireside Room of the Presbyterian Church, Fourth and K Streets.

The center serves the Valley's low - income residents with inexpensive thrift - shop offerings, free food vouchers, furniture, cash and referrals. The thrift shop and office is located on First Street just north of Railroad Avenue.

According to fund center volunteer Julia Kleinecke, all interested persons are considered members and are invited to the annual meeting. Election of directors and annual reports are the two items on the agenda.

VMH invited to meet with council

Plans for the Valley's proposed new medical center are undergoing some scrutiny by the Livermore city government.

After enjoying the convenience of a full - service hospital for years, many Livermore residents are not taking kindly to the idea that medical services may, by the end of the 1970's, be concentrated in Pleasanton where the Valley Memorial Hospital board is hoping to put a 150 - bed medical center.

They are not comforted by assurances that an emergency room, probably surgery and possibly maternity and pediatrics wings would still keep the present hospital operating briskly.

They don't believe there's a big enough population to fill two hospitals, nor a big enough profit to pay off the proposed new construction.

So, the City Council voted Monday night to request a meeting between VMH representatives and city council members for informational purposes.

Valley Memorial administrator Tom Andrews hasn't received the "invitation" yet, so he is unwilling to offer a response beyond explaining he will take the request to the nine - member VMH board (which meets next on Feb. 20.)

A letter sent by Andrews to the Council in response to some of their questions says, "Please rest assured that, while our activity and responsibility are valley - wide and present development is occurring in the western sector, we have no intent of neglecting the interest of Livermore area residents. The Livermore facility will continue to provide all basic hospital services required for the foreseeable future. . .

"We intend to proceed with this program as rapidly as needs dictate and financing will permit. The certain increase in hospital utilization in the Valley, the existing population, and even the moderate growth that will occur in the foreseeable future, all more than justify the construction of the first stage of this planned expandable facility at this time.

"An important basis for the conclusion is the fact that the young and new population of the Valley uses Valley Memorial Hospital at a far lower rate than normal. This is certain to change as people tire of driving to East Bay doctors and as the population ages."

According to councilperson Helen Tirsell, the city has up - to - date population information, obtained last year through a General Plan study that cost the city $110,000, which could be of use to VMH, since its own Gorseline Associates study is now five years old.

The city has no jurisdiction over the hospital's actions. The 4,000 contributing corporation members elect nine directors, three each year for three - year terms, to set policy and oversee hospital operations.

Approval for the new medical center must, however, be granted by the Comprehensive Health Planning Agency of Alameda County.

From then on, there are openings available for other community groups to run the recycling center and pick up a few dollars for themselves.

Shantananda will speak on Yoga

Shantananda of the Yoga Society of San Francisco will teach a Hatha Yoga class on Wednesday nights at 8 p.m. starting February 5th. The classes will be held at the Livermore High School portable classroom.

Included in the instruction will be yoga postures, breathing exercises and meditation. The class is a 6 week series and the charge is $12.00 for the entire series.

For further information please call 447 - 3243.

Valley can outtalk nations

When it comes to talking, this valley's communities can outdo entire nations.

Pacific Telephone has some new figures indicating that Livermore, with 37,300 telephone sets, is better endowed in that regard than Vietnam. Pleasanton, with a telephon : count of 20,000, is just slightly ahead of the sovereign nation of Monaco.

Pacific Tel manager Dick Pienpenburg also notes that Americans placed 188 billion phone calls in 1973, more than four times the Japanese dial - a - record which is number two in that world talkathon. Palo Alto has the American distinction of claiming more telephones than it has people, a ranking also shared by the nation's capital.

Value workshop at Granada

A self - workshop on value clarification and self - esteem will be offered Friday and Saturday, Jan. 31 and Feb. 1, at Granada High School, 400 Wall St.

Bob Newell. an experienced facilitator with a background in communication skills, conflict resolution and values clarification, is the workshop leader He is a consultant with the Oakland public schools.

Participants will learn more than 20 techniques that can be used to help themselves, their students and friends make clear what's important to them in their lives and enhance self - esteem.

Registration fee is $16, or $26 if one unit of credit is to be earned through Cal State University, Hayward . Further information may be obtained from Nancy Wagner at 447 - 3220, evenings.

Physical fitness

PLEASANTON — The police and fire departments are seeking to set up a physical fitness program for their employees.

Space is available for an exercise room at Fire Station No. 1 and Captain Doug Cracraft is seeking donations of used physical fitness equipment from the community.

Anyone who has used weights, exercycles, incline boards, etc. which are not being used and are just taking up space is urged to contact Cracraft at 846-3202, extension 275.

Our choice for the 15th Assembly post

The easiest way out of next Tuesday's big decision would be to not vote at all. Estimates are that well over half of the 15th Assembly District's electorate will choose that route. Locally, we could simply agree with those political journalists who urge us to ponder carefully the shortcomings of all valley candidates in that field, while looking only for good things about the stranger from over the hill. We would hope the valley populace would reject both of those poor cop - outs.

Fortunately, there is no aura of sainthood surrounding any of the 15 aspirants for that assembly post. They are all quite human, displaying a proportionate share of talents, blessed with a generous dose of faults. It remains then to determine which one from that field would be particularly sensitive to the needs and the challenges confronting the 500 square miles that make up the bulk of the 15th Assembly District. There can be little doubt that Floyd Mori is well out front on that score.

We are aware that some of Mr. Mori's acquaintances are troubled by the blending of business administration background, Asiatic extraction and Mormon allegiance which are among the dominant characteristics of this man. But then again it is because so many of us know him, and have had occasion to battle him, that we relate also to his slightest flaw. We suggest you ask yourself which of the other candidates is so well known to you as to permit that same in depth analysis?

Floyd Mori has had to test his mettle as a public servant on the hot fires of growth, the environment, the widening of a controversial freeway and the expansion of a doubtful sewer system. These are difficult problems that we all understand, and that impact our lives, one way or another. Some would suggest that the valley would be better served by a Hayward resident "who has a better environmental philosophy" than does Mr. Mori. We would prefer to deal with a man who has had to relate to the hard economic facts of environmental quality, rather than walk down the primrose path with some environmental philosopher from over the hill.

Joyce LeClaire would score high on our rating sheet for many of those same reasons. But there is clear evidence that the very personable Mrs. LeClaire does yet have the background or the organization to muster support from throughout the sprawling 15th District. We would hope Joyce would continue to serve Pleasanton and the valley from her present office, to be available for some other political challenge a year or two down the road.

Marc Elliott is a nice young man who does not have a firm grasp on the office he now seeks, or the complex district it represents. He is not a viable choice for the valley's electorate in this particular race.

For those Republican faithful who insist that this first ballot is a primary test, and therefore want to vote for one of their own, there can be little question that George Oakes is the seasoned, proven representative of that party. But we would doubt that Mr. Oakes could ever win majority support from this side of the hills, and — even assuming a first - ballot victory on Feb. 4 — there is no way any Republican is going to come out on top in a head - to - head runoff with the leading Democrat in that March election.

Floyd Mori is a "conservative Democrat" who would serve us well, of whatever political or community allegiance. All that remains is for the local populace to understand that we have this one chance of gaining a valley representative in the state legislature. It will be interesting to see how we respond to that challenge.

Al Fischer

I have been searching for the source of an article featuring Pleasanton points of interest, but yielding no other clue as to when and who it was published by.

Entitled "Valley of Vineyards and Ranches," it describes the wineries in the valley, the Pleasanton Hotel, The Cheese Factory, the Fairgrounds, Lake Del Valle and the lab.

Our first thought was that it must be the AAA publication but a check with that office indicates their releases have different page measurements. Previous checks with the businesses mentioned and the chamber of commerce have drawn a blank.

If you know of any such article, written by an Elizabeth Campbell, please relieve this writer's agonizing by sending along the name (of publication) and date of article.

Hindsight/Foresight

The BART debacle

The operations of the Bay Area Rapid Transit system are once again in a critical period.

Directed by an interim general manager who has made some curious comments to date, plagued by serious accidents and still behind even the latest revised late night and weekend service startup dates, the "transit system of tomorrow" is guided by a board of directors that is either unwilling or unable to overcome these problems.

The latest mishap occurred Monday when an unattended BART car, left on a siding at the MacArthur station, started rolling southward. It traveled some 2½ miles, through two stations, before coming to a stop just past the 12th Street station.

That it did not collide with an on-computer scheduled (and passenger-carrying) train is a Godsend. You can imagine the startled expressions of patrons waiting on station platforms as the BART unit rolled through completely empty.

The track between MacArthur and the central Oakland stations is downhill but just past the 12th Street station the track goes up hill slightly.

Presumably, that is the reason the BART unit finally came to a stop.

What is so worrisome about this latest incident is that there doesn't appear to be any safeguards in the sophisticated BART computer to avoid repetition of this.

Two other recent accidents resulted in loss of life and extensive damage to BART equipment. The most publicized occurred on a Sunday evening earlier this month when a test train barrelled into a maintenance truck on wheels. The latter was found to be on the wrong tracks . . .and with a worker who later was found to have an above-the-intoxication-limit amount of alcohol in his blood.

But it was an apparent human error that caused the main — tenance vehicle to be on the wrong tracks and for the train to be cleared through to the next station. The train was estimated to have been traveling between 50 and 80 mph.

The other mishap causing extensive damage came about through another human error, this time during supposedly routine equipment movements in the Concord repair yards. The bothersome point here is that the occurrence was apparently soft — pedaled or suppresed initially.

Our question is whether the BART board and management can now take remedial action to avoid further such occurrences.

This writer wonders if the newly — constituted board can put aside what looks like feather nesting and glad —handing of a privileged and powerful few and get to the heart of the safety and maintenance problem.

It was hoped that an elected board would be much more responsive to the wants and needs of the public they are supposed to serve.

But several board members, particularly a couple from San Francisco and a couple more from the north of Oakland area, have shown blatant disregard for the best interests of the riding public.

This writer would commend directors Robert Allen of Livermore and John Glenn of Fremont and hope that they would be instrumental in guiding the board majority back onto the right track . . .that of insuring safe and dependable rapid transit service.

Please explain

Editor, The Times:

Please explain why Mr. Parness says that the taxpayers would have to vote on Dial - A - Ride because it is funded by highway funds.

The city council of Livermore refused to allow the taxpayers to vote on the underpasses Mr. Parness wants to construct on North Livermore and on P Street and those underpasses are being funded by state transportation funds.

Seems like it's o.k. to use public funds to help a few powerful crooks but it needs a vote to use public funds to help the people who pay the bills. How does Livermore get away with breaking the law and using public funds to subsidize private projects?

round the town

There was that era, during the peak of the Juke Boxes, when every hamburger joint boasted a control box for the jukes alongside each table. You could make your selection, and spend your dime, without ever leaving the table. The din was constant. The music went round and round, forever and ever.

Then some genius got the idea of adding one more record to the long list available for the noise - loving populace. "Two Minutes of Silence," he called it. You inserted the dime, pushed the right button, and the juke box produced two minutes of silent bliss In one week "Silence" was among the top 20 of most record ratings.

That came to mind the other day, at Sunday worship services. We were being entertained by the latest musical ensemble, from a long line of vocal and instrumental groups that have suddenly got religion. They are all quite good, and they are all very evident. The moments for quiet worship, for a private rap session with the Lord, are few and far between.

The next time the collectiom plate passes by, we plan to deposit a dollar, along with a note. "Ten minutes of blessed silence, please." It just might catch on.

Young people used to identify with loud music. The louder it got, the more popular the combo. Now the in set calls that "bubble gum stuff." The sophisticated swing is away from the amplified strings and the screaming vocalist. The trend, or so we are assured, is back to the fifties. And before. The soulful music of Glen Miller, before we even knew what "soulful" meant. It just sounded nice. And satisfying. And not too terribly loud. Now it's coming back. Praise the Lord and pass the castanets.

The other day we were listening to a spokesman for the Port of Oakland board of commissioners. He was telling a local audience all about the advances, the challenges, the woes of that mighty East Bay conglomerate. Everything's coming up roses for the P of A, these days. Except noise.,

Big jets landing and taking off at Oakland Airport make a great deal of noise. Probably always will. That landing field has the advantage of being relatively new, and therefore designed to keep jet noise away from existing residential areas. But now the residentialists want to build in the path of the jets on the island of Alameda. Plus a school, smack beneath the take - off pattern of those big four - engine jobs. "When we ask Alameda to please not allow a residential subdivision in the path of the jets they assure us 'the people who buy these homes won't care about a little jet noise.' But after they've lived in that new house for a while, they start suing the airport and the airlines for noise pollution. And the courts agree. And it costs airports millions and millions of dollars in damages."

The jurists have handed down some juicy settlements in this matter of "noise pollution." It's the newest money game in town. We plan to suit file suit against the kid who takes off at 5 every morning. On a motorcycle. With twin exhausts open and roaring. It's enough to send a sleeping journalist up the wall. It usually does

Some folks have this thing about dogs. Noisy dogs. They seem to find a sense of security with a barking dog. The louder (or nastier?) the bark, the greater sense of peace. Of course it completely destroys the peace for everybody else in the neighborhood. Particularly at 3 a.m. But no matter, the dog owner feels secure in that bark, and this is the generation of "doing my own thing," right?

There was this article about guns. (Probably in Parade Magazine, the source of all things strange and unbelievable.) The author, an expert of course, suggests that home owners find security in owning a gun NOT because they ever intend to shoot anybody. Not even an intruder or a rapist. They just enjoy having the gun around. In case of dire emergency, the gun has a nice, strong feeling. And it can also make a loud noise. BANG

So why not start producing a low - cost pistol that looks and feels and sounds like the real thing, BUT that never fires a shot in anger. Or even in jest. Americans could thus gain all the benefits of private gun ownership. The constitution is preserved. The American Rifle Society is pacified. But no one ever gets hurt. A little ear drum pollution, perhaps, but no big holes in people.

And no more tragic stories of the youngsters who got their hands on the family pistol. The worst that could happen to them would be one more loud BANG! Bubble gum stuff.

Now all we need is a pill to de - bark dogs. Let the hounds blare forth in noiseless wonder. Let the nervous dog owner play a barking record, with ear plug attachment, to gain that assurance which comes only to those who feel secure in a world of noise.

And let the rest of us poor devils get a little sleep. It's a loud, loud, loud, loud world, and getting louder all the time. Somebody had best pass a law commanding two minutes of silence, before we all go bonkers.

Sound and Fury

Walt Hecox

More than a score of years have passed since Eldred Chance entered public life in the Livermore Valley, more than 38 since he arrived here and enriched the area with his presence.

Sixteen years he has given his extra measure of work and devotion to the valley, ten of them as a member of the Zone 7 Board of Directors, six as a trustee for the Livermore Valley Unified School District.

Now, with his career in public service apparently ended, he has chosen to say thank you and farewell to the people with whom he has worked through the years.

Almost exactly two years have passed since Eldred retired from the school district board and made his farewell statement. There was optimism in that communication and a considerable degree of enthusiasm.

..."In 3½ years, from a $500,000 deficit to a $400,000 cash reserve. From double sessions to NO double sessions. A 18 percent salary increase for all employees plus a full Health and Dental plan and a 5 percent increase in total budget; tax increase has been held to a minimum and everyone has been paid on time. The district now has a well prepared budget, a monthly financial statement and the listing of expenditures in language which can be understood.

"There has been an overhauling of hiring procedures and the beginning of an overhauling of the Administration, as per the Arthur Young report; a hard fought over book of board politics and regulations and an evaluation procedure of all personnel that was non-existant three and a half years ago."

The establishing of a study of curriculum and the beginning of a meaningful overhaul of the curriculum grades 1-12. There is currently in operation a successful negotiating procedure, (even though some people don't think so).

"In my opinion, within the frame work of the educational code, press relations must be improved by a more open, frank and honest disclosure of information by the board and administration and a more forthright presentation of that news and information by the press.

"In my opinion we have an outstanding, dedicated group of classified employees and they are the backbone of this district and its operation.

"In my opinion we have several outstanding administrators and they are totally dedicated to the best interest of the district and the students, not just themselves. They are doing an excellent job as administrators.

"In my opinion the overwhelming majority of teachers in the district are truly and fully dedicated and are an asset and credit to their profession. It is this majority of professionals that has kept a high level of education going. However, there are some who do not attain this high level, they are only looking for pay day and are most thankful for tenure. This condition can only be cleaned up by the great majority of dedicated professionals cleaning their own house; believe me it's long overdue. I sincerely hope leadership from the professional will soon appear that can accomplish this. It cannot be accomplished by a board, it must come from within."

Though he was acutely aware that there were problems among Livermore's young people, Chance was generous and glowing in his praise of the great majority of them.

"Livermore has one of the finest student bodies in the state and it is the greatest asset that we have," he said. "To them I would like to say it has been an honor to have served on your school board. To my friends I say thank you for your past support. I have tried not to let you down. I have, whether I personally agreed with certain programs or not, voted for what I considered the best interest of the majority of students and the community.

"To those who have served as the opposition, both vocally and silently, you haven't been so tough, you just had more votes at times. If you had not been so permissive, much more could have been accomplished.

After a long winded dissertation and 16 plus years, dating back to 1952, serving ten years on Zone 7 and six plus on the school board, I do not choose to run again I will leave it up to someone else from here on. To all of you, thank you and God bless you all."

Two years after that farewell message Chance feels it is time for one last communication to his friends and supporters. Though he is seriously ill, he found his way to a typewriter and composed this statement and note of gratitude.

Gentlemen: If it should meet with your approval I would like to take this opportunity to thank those who have been so helpful to me and my family over the years. I can honestly and truthfully say that any and everything good and worthwhile has come from their help. To you, especially the "old timers", we will always be thankful. I would like to mention some especially, but am afraid I might miss someone. There was a time when Livermore was built on a foundation of integrity and honesty and was a town going somewhere. It was due to your efforts and surely you should be worthy of them. To you I say, humbly and sincerely, thank you for your friendship and help over the last 38 years.

What a shame there has been and still are so many talented and wonderful people at the lab but there seems only those ego seeking upper echelon super welfare oriented who desire to enforce their small groups thinking on those who seem not to have the time to care. What a shame this is tolerated by those who do care.

In my opinion Livermore has two big problems eating her very "guts". In my opinion they are "the schools and city hall." In the schools it is from the pusilanimous actions practiced by a large minority (number of people, not race) of teachers and administrators from the bottom up. We do have a fine group of teachers and administrators if someone would only say "the buck stops here." I have seen this district slide to this mediocre position it seems to enjoy. Just wait until your ten million is available by using a more expensive 51 percent of the vote instead of the 66 percent for the first time in Livermore history. What a trip that is going to be by that same group and their advisors of upper echelon welfare oriented.

"As for the city hall, it is more sophisticated, deeply embedded and very professional. Should you look by the stories that have appeared, you would no doubt find a warm, cozy environ of rooms filled with manuals and surveys galore, but it is deep down there where the ground gets cold where the action begins.

Livermore has always been known for its good newspapers, publishers and editors and still is. They have always stood for what they thought, applauding when due and cracking knuckles where needed. We still have good newspapers and editors. Having known them I am sure they are still there.

If Livermore is ever going anywhere now is the time to act. Livermore was not built for "round heels." It needs your help now.

Thank you for your help in the past and this opportunity to express my feelings. Eldred Chance

To that we can only add that all the valley, whether they supported him or not, should be thankful to the man who gave so much of his life to community service.

For Wednesday, Jan. 29, 1975

ARIES (March 21-April 19) You are far more ambitious today than you'll be tomorrow. Get as much accomplished as possible. Leave no loose ends.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) A social activity you'll be involved in will take on serious overtones. Something worthwhile results from a frivolous start.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) There are a few domestic matters needing your prompt attention. Don't let them go unattended. They won't be completed later.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Your ideas carry a lot of weight today. You can get others to move in line with your plans if you prod them a bit.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) This is a better day for your financial dealings than tomorrow will be. Stay on top of situations calling for your best business acumen.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) It's to your advantage to be a little more assertive now in furthering self-interests. Time is an unreliable ally.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) If you're in need of a favor, put in your request today. It's likely to get a considerate response. It won't later.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) When you notice those you're associating with are unsure of their moves, it will be your cue to supply the leadership.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Important strides can be made today toward a goal important to you personally. Pull out all the stops.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) A conclusion you'll arrive at may be painful to implement, but it will chart your most logical course for now.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) One you'll deal with today will treat you with consideration and unselfishness, though it's inconvenient for her to do so.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) A decision you make today will be well thought out. You'll realistically evaluate its pro's and con's. Act on it.

Events will awaken your ambitions this year. You'll set some lofty goals for yourself. They can be attained if you'll pay the price. Aim high.

By Oswald & James Jacoby

One of the four books that make up "Bridge Play" was called bridge from A to Z. It describes 26 kinds of bridge plays.

A stands for Avoidance. An avoidance play is designed to keep the dangerous opponent out of the lead.

South takes his ace of spades; leads a trump to dummy's ace and a second trump back to his king. Now if South is a hog he will try a club finesse with the idea of discarding his losing spade on a good club and making either five or six depending on where the ace of diamonds happens to be.

Unfortunately for this player East will produce the king of clubs and lead back the queen of diamonds and instead of making five or six our hog will wind up one down.

There is a simple avoidance play to insure the contract. South leads a spade to dummy's jack. West can do no better than take his queen and lead another spade. South discards a club on dummy's jack of spades; cashes the ace of clubs then leads the jack and lets it ride if East plays low. South loses one spade and two diamonds but wins the rubber.

Suppose West held the king of clubs. South would not make any overtricks, but he would still make his contract.

Amador upends host Gaels

Amador Valley High stretched a four point halftime lead into a 58-46 win over host Dublin last night in EBAL basketball.

The Dons remain undefeated as Dublin dropped its second contest of the season.

The Gaels main problem, once again, was the fact they were able to get inside but unable to convert from in close.

Both teams had balanced scoring, as Andy Finn led the game with 16 for Amador, followed by teammate Jeff Hine, who had 15, nine on free throws.

Doug Adams led Dublin with 12 points, and Chuck Hatheway chipped in 10.

In the first half, during which the lead changed hands eight times, Dublin proved that it could stay with the East Bay leaders.

Both teams combined for four turnovers as the game's first basket was delayed 2:10.

At that point Andy Finn put one in from underneath and it looked as though Amador was on its way.

However, Dublin kept up the pressure and with 2:51 left in the first period Troy Roberson stole the ball under the Amador basket and flipped in an easy shot to tie at 6-6.

Doug Adams scored six points late in the first period as Dublin took the lead for the first time, 10-8, with just under two minutes to go.

But the Dons came back to tie it on a follow shot by Finn, who despite seemingly putting too much on his shots, led Amador with 10 first half points.

Jeff Hine put the Dons ahead with yet another follow shot about half a minute later, but Dublin's Chuck Hatheway fired a 14-foot jumper with 24 seconds to go and thp first quarter ended, 12-12.

The Dons took off fast at the outset of the second quarter, and it looked like the game might turn into one of Amador's sleepers However, Dublin kept to within four at the half, 26-22, as Ray Roberson with six points, and Korey Porter, with a rally sparking bomb from the right corner, sparked the Gaels.

Ray Roberson's last bucket of the half gave Dublin its final timeout, yet managing to sink lead, 20-18. Amador tied it when Jeff Hine was hit in the mough, requiring an injury timeout, yet managed to sink both free throws.

Jim Turner put the Dons ahead 23 seconds later with a 10-foot jump shot. Rob Yackley gave the Dons their biggest lead of the half, 26-20 with a pair of free throws. and a tip-in.

In junior varsity play, Dublin edged Amador, 59-57.

Cowboys win title again

Playing in weather that would make the Siberian national team shiver, the Livermore Cowboys notched yet another EBAL soccer title yesterday; beating the visiting Amador Valley Dons, 1-0.

Wayne Perry scored the only goal of the match seven minutes into the second half.

Perry fired a shot to the right of Don goalkeeper Dave Schneider, but the ball hit the goal post and rebounded right back to Wayne, who made his second shot good with a grounder to the left corner of the cage.

The Cowboys needed the win to mathematically eliminate idle Dublin, who could have tied the Cowboys with a win Thursday over San Ramon if the 'Pokes had dropped yesterday's game.

The teams' contrasting styles were well documented by the post-game statistics.

Amador came up with 30 shots on goal, nine more than Livermore as it attempted to run a power offense launching many long passes. However, the booming kicks had little effect, as time after time Cowboy goalie Pete Howard had only to come a little ways out of the net, kneel down, scoop the ball up and boot it down the field in his unique drop-kick style to clear the Livermore zone.

Howard was given credit for 19 saves, but few were spectacular as the ex-linebacker played his position well, thus avoiding the need for heroics.

The Dons out corner kicked Livermore 3-1, but seldom posed a serious threat to the championship-bound 'Pokes, who controlled the flow of the game with an excellent pattern play.

Amador's biggest offensive of the game came with very little time remaining.

Howard chose to pat a lengthy Don shot into the air, instead of attempting what would have been a very risky save, and the Pleasanton Purple kept the pressure on for at least ninety seconds before Robin Wilkerson cleared the ball down field.

Moments later, time ran out and the 'Pokes had pocketed one of the season's coldest — and most important — wins.

The two teams were obviously hampered by the 40 degree temperatures as Livermore went offsides just twice while the Dons got too anxious just once.

The Cowboys commited 10 fouls while Amador was called for rough play eight times.

San Ramon toppled by Livermore five

Livermore High's Ed St Clair shook the San Ramon Wolves out of their mid-winter nap last night, scoring 37 points to lead the Cowboys to an 82-76 EBAL basketball victory in Danville.

The Wolves, often flashy, but mainly inconsistent, were coming off an ill-advised two week break. Their hopes of rebounding from their 0-4 record, to become a factor in the league race, grow dimmer by the day.

San Ramon put on a 7-2 burst at the outset of the second half to draw within five at 45-40, but twisting St. Clair lay-ins kept the Cowboys out of reach. Livermore pushed its margin to 62-48 with just four minutes to play.

However, Joe Fisher and Jim Kaldem, who led SR with 25 and 22 points helped the Wolves scramble to withing six over the final stretch.

The Wolves' efforts to stop St. Clair in the first half were fruitless as the 6-5 Livermore forward tossed in nine field goals and two free throws to lead all scorers with 20 at the break.

Among the bromides SR coach John Clawson reached for were front liners Jeff Kennedy, George Pehanick and Joe Fisher, as well as repeated pleadings to fill the weak side once the Wovles had been beaten man-to-man.

The Cowboys sped to a 28-15 first quarter lead, combining good man-to-man pressure in the back court with a collapsing 1-3-1 zone.

However, SR forward Jim Kaldem was able to thread his way through the Cowboys for three unmolested lay-ins in the first quarter, and led the Wolves at halftime with 10 points.

In junior varsity action, Jeff Herman's lay-in with 36 seconds remaining in overtime broke a 59-59 tie. Herman was fouled on the play, and his free throw iced a 62-59 win for the Wolves.

The win was the 10th straight for San Ramon, and gives them a league leading 6-0 mark in the

Granada harpoons Mustangs

Blowing out the Mustangs with some hot shooting in the third quarter, Granada High trounced Monte Vista, 65-48 last night in EBAL basketball at Livermore.

Granada owned a 31-26 halftime lead, and extended the margin to 52-40 with some devastating third - quarter shooting.

Scott Campbell led the binge with eight points, six of which were on lay-ins. Lee Brennan added four of his game-high 20 points during the tear on short jumpers from the baseline.

Granada's tremendous height advantage stymied the Monte Vista offense, as the Mustangs mustered only eight fourth-quarter points.

Daryl Lawson hit for 10 points, as did Paul Fischer, and that wrapped up the Mustang scoring.

Campbell finished the game with 11 points, and four fouls for Granada. Brother Dave added 10 points.

The win boosted Granada to 3-2 in league play and Monte Vista dropped to 2-3.

Relying on a strong second quarter and overwhelming height advantage, Granada rolled to a 31-26 halftime lead.

Monte Vista controlled a 14-12 first-quarter advantage, but the Mats reeled off eight consecutive points at the outset of the second period to pull into the lead.

Brennan led the Mats' scoring barrage with 11 points by halftime.

The 6-7 center scored four points on lay-ins and his remaining seven from the foul line.

Granada built up most of its lead from the free throw line, scoring 14 points on charities.

In the junior varsity contest, Monte Vista came up with a big second quarter and dumped Granada, 69-62.

Kevin Jones led the Mustangs with 21 points, while teammates Bob Dezincenzi and Mike Foley chipped in 14 and 13 respectively.

Jeff Evert led all scorers with 25 points for Granada. Teammates Tony Bartolini and Steve Cox threw in 14 and 10 points.

Dublin slips by Granada, 3-2

On a wet, windy day suitable for ducks rather than soccer players, the Dublin High soccer team upended the Granada Matadors 3-2, in Dublin.

The Gaels got a goal from three different players, Mike Laudenbach, Scott Evaristo and Matt Bryant to capture the hard fought win.

Granada's Jay Strickland put the Mats on top 1-0 with 15 minutes expired in the first half.

Mike Ramil sent a 15 yard pass to Jim Watson which Watson trappe in front of the Dublin goal.

Goalie Chris Cantalini went after Watson and Watson fed it to Strickland who slipped the ball into the lower right hand of the net from 10 yards out.

Laudenbach knotted the score at 1-1 as he connected from 15 yards away.

Laudenbach's smash came with 25 minutes wasted in the first half.

Manzar Igbal lofted a high pass in front of the Dublin nets which found its way on to Derrick Hoxie's hands, necesitating a penalty kick.

The lanky Estill rifled the ball past Cantalini in the upper right hand corner of the goal for a 2-1 Granada halftime advantage.

Scott Evaristo drew Dublin even 10 minutes into the second half on a 10 yard shot.

Evarsto lofted the ball over Lennon's outstretched arms after he picked up the ball following a wild scramble in front of the Granada net.

Bryant, who played outstanding all afternoon put Dublin on top to stay 20 minutes into the second half.

Granada's Ramil deflected the ball straight to Bryant and the Dublin wing rocketed the ball past Lennon giving the Gaels their margin of victory.

Matador freshmen roll on

Granada High's freshmen ran their EBAL basketball record to 6-0 yesterday with a 50-30 rout of Monte Vista in Livermore.

The Mats raced to a 21-6 first quarter utilizing a full-court press, and aided by the Mustangs' cold shooting.

Andy Heath paced Granada with 13 points. Teammate Mike Nalty scored 12, and pulled down seven rebounds. Steve Robison scored 10, and Steve Waldera, nine, for Granada.

Livermore improved its record to 4-2 with a 56-45 win over San Ramon at home.

The Cowboys were paced by John Bachleda's 18 points, and 12 from Dick Patterson. John Farfan had eight, and Rich Yaworinsky and Steve Williford had six each. Yaworinsky was the Livermore rebounding leader.

The Cowboys led by just four at halftime, but a good defense, and a tight press helped them pull away in the second half.

Green scores 'em all, Dukes bop Barracudas, 3-0

Jeff Green punched three goals, leading the Dukes past the Barracudas, 3-0 in spring soccer action last weekend.

Randy Vaneck and Mike Maciorski played outstanding defense for the winners. Eric Storjohann had eight saves for the losers.

The Colts and Cheetahs tied, 0-0, with Ron Peterson, Danny Potts and Tony Sanchez playing outstanding defense.

Todd Skinner's two goals vaulted the Chargers past the Bears, 2-0. Derrik Bromstead had five saves for the Bears.

The Clippers downed the Demons, 3-1, on goals by Mario Pacaliuagan, Tony Bobosky and Ricky Ewert. Steve Torres scored for the losers. Mike Stewart was a standout defensemen.

Don Buti and Bill Fowler traded goals as the Dodgers and Dons fought to a 1-1 tie. R.C. Andrus and Danny Heath were standouts for the Dodgers. Ricky Barrieau and Tim Merrill played well for the Dons.

Two Daryl Sequieria goals lifted the Barons past the Dynamos, 2-1. Chris Poulos scored for the losers. Baron goalie Jeff Kenyon had five saves. Mike Papka was the top defender.

The Dragons rode four Tony Gore goals, and one by Mike Divoky to a 5-0 whitewash of the Blitzers. Scott Veach, Pat Ranahan and Keith Jensen were all instrumental for the Dragons.

Randy Loscutoff scored in the final minutes as the Bobcats edged the Braves, 1-0 The defense of Eric Knowles and David Slattery was crucial for the winners.

Eric Van Etten's first half goal eased the Celtics past the Chiefs, 1-0. Geoffery Hasz played well.

under-10

Steve Maciorski scored three times leading the Greyhounds to a 6-0 victory. Paul Chenkovich, Ricky Gabler and Chuck Green also scored. Keith Fruzzetti and Steve Hill split 12 saves for the losers

Paul Taylor's 11 saves insured the Gators' 2-1 win over the Giants. David Morris and Gary Daniels had Gator goals. Tom Hansen scored for the losers. Mike Healy was a defensive standout.

Goals by Trent Brown, Brandon Banter and Fred Baines propelled the Gorillas to a 3-2 decision over the Gophers. Freddie Biletnikoff and Scott Hylton scored for the losers.

Colin Spence scored twice, and Mike Stoker, once, as the Hot Rods managed a 3-3 tie with the Hornets. Chris Rudolff had eight saves for the Rods

The Huskies downed the Jets, 9-0, getting two goals each from Jay Rosset, Joe Zehnder, Dan Rueda and Rick Vallejo. Goe Gigli scored once.

Todd Whaley and Rod Getty scored two goals each, and Eric Scheir had one as the Hustlers blanked the Mavericks, 5-2. Phillip Costello, Tom Gonsolves and Jason Qird were defensive standouts.

The Hawks thumped the Mercurys, 5-1, on two goals each by Greg Drott and Craig Founger, and one by John Ellis.

Trevor Parkes scored for the losers.

Jeff Mendonca's five saves insured the Monarchs a 0-0 tie with the Marlins. Jimmy Gloenblatt and Mark Devokie played super defense.

Two Stuart Maestes goals, and one by Chris Damoulos handed the Javelins a 3-1 triumph over the Mustangs. John Orlandi was the defensive hero.

Greg Johnston scored on a Brian Walker assist as the Matadors trimmed the Muskrats, 1-0. David James and Scott Petterson were key players.

The Panthers ripped the Pythons, 5-2, on two Steve Pazkowski goals, and one each by Matt Fahy, Chris Lopez and Jeff Corbett Dane Hoppezak had six saves. Tim Choen and Keith Comerford scored for the losers.

Scoring three times in the second half, the Phantoms outlasted the Pacers, 4-3. John Demian had two goals and Bill Demian and Doug Duke, one each. Chris Bowling scored two times for the losers, and Bob Reid, once. Pacer goalie Scott Warmon had 10 saves.

Brian Wright and Scott Hogan each scored two in a 4-1 rout of the Rebels Robert McVicar scored for the losers

The Rascals, behind two Todd Graham goals and one by Mike Gallagher, blanked the Roadrunners, 3-0.

The Spartans shut out the Spurs, 2-0, on goals by Jeff Wilson and Kerry Miller. Craig Braida had five saves for the losers.

Goals by Scott Greene, Danny Gibson and Pat Santo, and the good defense of Bruce Hendricks and Steve Gil vaulted the Scouts to a 3-0 win over the Serpents.

John Despotakis scored three times for the Nighthawks, and Bobby Simpson had three Noble goals, in a 3-3 deadlock. Nighthawk Bill Karney had five saves, and the Nobles' Michael Heitkamp had six.

The Nomads and Neutrons tied, 1-1, on goals by Mike Bobosky and Brian McNamara. Dave Bracken, Tim Vanek, Dominic Vaticano and Dan Authier played fine defense.

under-14

Steve Davis' two goals launched the Keyes to a 2-1 win over the Knights. Gregg Doherty, Ron Francis and David Bervan played strong defense.

Mike Harris scored on a penalty kick as the Knaves edged the Kings, 1-0. Clint Mattern and Terry Purtell had seven saves each for the losers.

Jim Cormier's two goals and nine Mike Eulert saves carried the Titanics past the Tigers, 3-1. Stuart Mayberry scored for the winners. Tim Garcia had a Tiger goal. Richard Jones had eight saves for the losers.

The Tormentors tied the Tomahawks, 1-1, on Mike Jacobson's goal. Steve Duke and David Wagner were defensive stars.

Al Caffodio

Steve Plan, Rocky Dijos and Rich Hogan combined for eight saves as the Ballistic Apollos tied the Independent Minnows, 0-0. Mike Elliot was a defensive stalwart.

Sammy Swyers and Jurgen Ruttke goals handed the Ballistic Alligators a 2-1 win over the Atomic X-Rays.

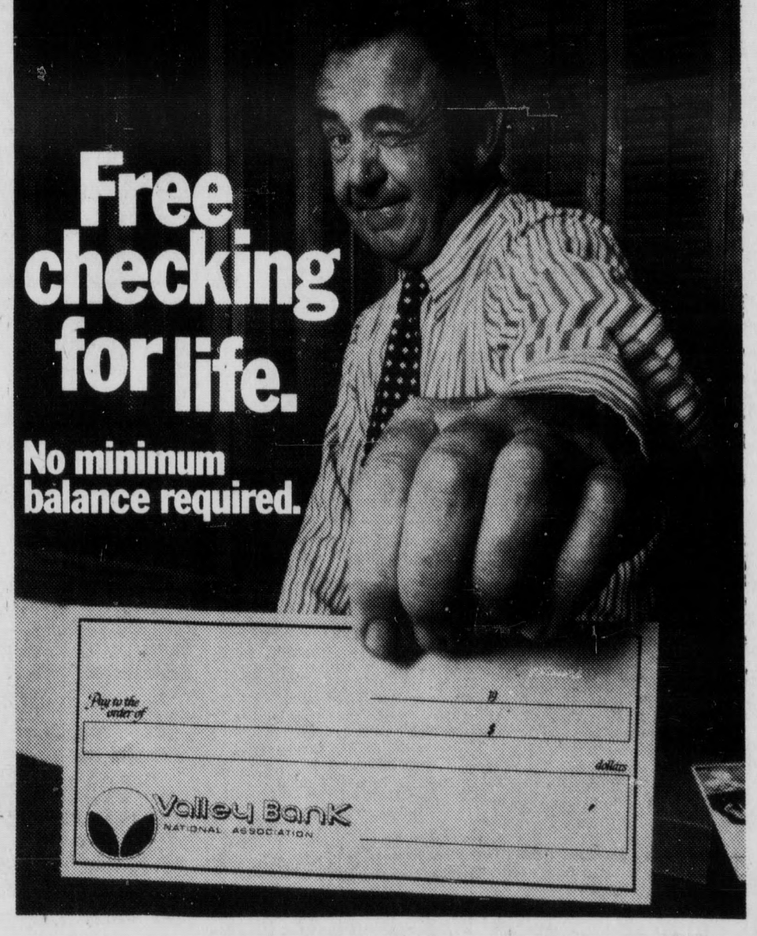
What's new in Pleasanton?
Free checking for life.
No minimum balance required.


Imagine . . . a lifetime of free checking with no minimum balance to maintain! It sounds too good to be true—but Valley Bank has just opened a new branch office in Pleasanton, and we're making free checking a reality for our customers every day. Just make an initial deposit of $50 and you'll be free of those monthly per-check service charges. The only cost to you is the normal charge for imprinting your checks. The only way you can lose your account is to overdraw—and you can avoid that by taking advantage of our overdraft protection service.
There's another reason why you might want to think about banking with us. We know how busy your workweek can be, so we offer our full range of banking services on Saturday. Lobby and Drive-Up are both open Saturday from 9:00 AM until 12:00 PM. Free Checking for Life and Saturday Banking. Also available at our Livermore and Dublin offices.

Election Notes

Candidates' night

CANDIDATES' NIGHT

The League of Women Voters will hold a Candidates' Night for candidates for the 15th Assembly District at 7:30 p.m. Thursday in the multi-purpose room of Sonoma School in Livermore.

The candidates who have said they will appear are Marc Elliot, George Glavor, Leo Howell, Josh Jelincic, Thomas Kendall, Joyce LeClaire, Lonnie Moore, Floyd Mori, Douglas Morrisson, George Oakes, Dick Pliver, Guy Puccio and Bill Vandenburgh.

JOYCE LECLAIRE

LeClaire supported the establishment of an Alameda County Commission on the Status of Women. "The status of women is of great concern to me," she said. "True equality under the law for women is far from a reality in the State of California, much less the County of Alameda."

LeClaire of Pleasanton is presently involved in the formation of a Valley Women's Political Caucus.

BILL VANDENBURGH

Vandenburgh has stated he "intends to go well beyond the campaign reporting requirements of Proposition 9." He said his list of contributors would be made available for inspection through the last week of the campaign.

Proposition 9 requires that the final pre-election report include only those who have contributed on or before Jan. 25, 10 days before the election.

Vandenburgh said he has instructed his staff to keep the list of contributors available and challenged his 14 opponents to do the same.

MARC ELLIOT

At a reception held recently in Livermore, Elliot elaborated on his position on the expansion of Interstate 580. "If we block that project now," he said, "we risk losing the money to ever widen 580." He added, that stretch of the freeway through the Dublin Canyon is a "deathtrap that cannot even meet our present traffic needs."

Elliot contended the widening "does not necessarily mean a stimulus to growth. The decision to grow or not to grow is a local decision," he added. Elliot believes in reserving at least one lane (in each direction) on the widened freeway for bus traffic.

GEORGE OAKES

Oakes urges hearings be "held immediately to determine the feasability of making individual state incomp tax refunds to stimulate local economies."

Oakes added, "I think it's appropriate for the state legislature to give immediate consideration to a one-shot tax rebate that will give our sagging economy a badly needed boost. If we want to put more people back on the payroll and get business and industry moving again, we should give our citizens more disposable income by giving them a tax break."

'May I have your autograph?'

Granny Goose, star of her own potato chip bag, made a tour of the valley recently, promoting her product. The famous goose visited Valley Christian Center School in Dublin and the Small World preschool on her tour and was mobbed by her fans, according to reports.

CC jurors see 'human' mistakes

Lesher News Bureau

A committee of the county grand jury has found the County Human Resources Agency to be falling short of its goals.

The human resources committee, chaired by Donn R. Court, has stated, "Human elements appear to be blocking the development of a cohesive organization."

The report refers to the consolidation two years ago of the county health, social services, and medical services departments into one agency called human resources.

The grand jury committee report finds the organization failing in its objective of achieving greater efficiency and lower cost per unit of service.

The report calls for the immediate assistance of an independent consulting service, noting it was a mistake not to have had one in the first place.

"The cost of competent outside independent consultation could be well justified in an effort to accomplish a truly objective result in developing an effective organizational structure, appropriate personnel selection and clearly stated and established guidelines for responsibility and authority," says the report.

The grand jury committee wants a comparative cost analysis for the department changeover, reflecting before and after consolidation costs.

School board candidates

The League of Women Voters will sponsor candidates nights for 15th Assembly District and school board candidates during the coming month.

This Thursday the League will host Assembly aspirants at Sonoma School, 543 Sonoma Ave., Livermore, at 7:30 p.m. Candidates will be given three minutes each to express their views, followed by a question and answer period.

On Tuesday, Feb. 25, the League will host those seeking positions on the Amador and Pleasanton school boards. Penny Deleray will moderate the program scheduled for 7:30 p.m. at Harvest Park School in Pleasanton.

Livermore school board candidates will offer their views at a League-sponsored program on Thursday, Feb. 27 at Portola School, 2451 Portola Ave., Livermore, beginning at 7:30 p.m.

A candidates night for Murray Elementary School District board aspirants has not been slated by any group at this time.

Valley students take Cal State honors

The Dean's and Honors List for Fall quarter at California State University, Hayward, was released today. The Dean's List totals 417 students and the Honors List 482. Two hundred sixty three students achieved a straight A record.

To be included on the Dean's List at Cal State University, Hayward, a student must by carrying 12 or more units of study and have a grade point average of 3.75 or better on a scale of 4.0. A grade point average of 3.50 to 3.74 is necessary for the Honors List.

Straight A students are designated by an asterick.

Nejedly bill offers vets new benefits

Lesher News Bureau

SACRAMENTO — Veterans could receive educational benefits and attend out - of - state schools under legislation introduced by Sen. John Nejedly, R-Walnut Creek.

Under present law, the California Veterans Affairs department provides $100 monthly for educational benefits for veterans attending school on a full - time basis.

However, present law says the schools must be accredited by either the California education department or the Western Associaton of Schools and Colleges, which is limited to schools in California and Hawaii.

Manny Val of the department says that some veterans can't enroll in some schools, such as medical schools, because of space limitations although they otherwise qualify, however.

Under Nejedly's plan, they would be able to attend an out - of - state medical school and still receive the $100 monthly benefit.

Stark proposes aliens register

Rep. Fortney "Pete" Stark, one of the first bankers in the country to sell out to Arab interests, is now concerned about Arabs and other aliens gaining undue control over American banking institutions.

Stark claims that the buyer of his bank turned out to have earned the capital on commissions from weapon sales to other Arab countries and terms that discovery "appalling."

"Now it appears that the same Arab businessman is trying to buy control of a San Jose bank with commissions from another jet sale" said Stark.

Stark will propose legislation that will require alien owners of large blocks of bank stock to register under and be controlled by the Bank Holding Company Act of 1956. That would restrict alien ownership to one bank and prevent expansion into chains of banks and other interests, according to Stark.

An offer they can't refuse

Bill Rose is a third generation Pleasantonite who could readily identify with a community campaign aimed at replacing many of the fine old trees which once dominated the local scene. Bill came forward this week with an offer to drill all the holes necessary for the first planting of those trees. His Bar Fence Co. machine can be seen in action, preparing for the big planting job. Others who may want to contribute are invited to mail checks in the amount of $15 per tree to, "Trees for Pleasanton, P.O. Box 188, Pleasanton, 94566."

Educaional TV for LUSD

LIVERMORE — A student - made documentary on fossils of the Valley is going to be broadcast soon.

Feb. 10 will mark the premiere of "They Turned to Stone," a videotape made in a TV production class at East Avenue Intermediate School. That school houses the school district's broadcast equipment for a year - old closed circuit television system that serves most of Livermore's schools.

Under the state's Farr - Quimby Act, about $7,000 a year is given to the district to finance an educational TV service. Livermore's station, "Channel I," is broadcast through the Valley's Televue cable TV system.

Besides student - produced, shows, the channel is used for broadcasting teacher information programs and KQED educational shows.

Tom Heinemann, coordinator of instructional materials for the district, runs the TV project. He guided the East Avenue students in filming the fossil program, assisted by Margaret Montan, docent at the Amador - Livermore Valley Historical Society's museum at the Fairgrounds.

"They Turned to Stone" is a museum traveling exhibit. Ann Lewis is curator of the small local museum, which is open to the public and features changing and permanent exhibits of local interest.

DVC legal secretaries class set

An expanded course for legal secretaries begins Feb. 3 at Diablo Valley College.

The class taught by Mrs. Dorothy G. Williams, will meet from 9 to 11 a.m. on Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays.

Instruction will cover procedures in legal offices, studies of common legal documents, pleadings, and proceedings; the work and responsibilties of the notary public; and the role of the legal secretary as office manager, receptionist, telephone operator, cashier, and bookkeeper - accountant.

In addition there will be advanced shorthand studies, legal dictation shortcuts and production typewriting. Prerequisites for the course are typing and shorthand.

With Jan. 27 the official registration date, interested students should contact the DVC Registrar's Office immediately for enrollment instructions.

Additional information about the course may be obtained by calling 685-1230, Ext. 544.

Cliné named to central committee

Alice C. Cline has been appointed by the California State Democratic Central Committee to serve on the Credentials Committee for the State Committee as representative for the 9th Congressional District.

Mrs. Cline, Treasurer of the Alameda County Democratic Central Committee, was recently re - elected to the County Central Committee.

Local man to head personnel

A Pleasanton man has been promoted to the position of personnel services manager at Caterpillar Tractor Co.'s plant in San Leandro.

Keith K. Wheeler, 37, will have responsibilities employment, employee benefits, safety and employee publications at the San Leandro plant.

Wheeler, a graduate of California State University at San Jose, has worked for the company 10 years.

He lives at 4599 Lakewood Street.

Modern technology has reduced the time necessary to plow 2½ acres from about 14 hours to about 40 minutes.

The Value of a Community Bank

The end of 1974 and the beginning of 1975 gives us an opportunity to review some of the contributions to the life of the valley which have been made this past year by The First National Bank of Pleasanton, a unique locally owned banking organization which has been the leading financial institution in this area for over sixty-four years. This bank, having its roots deep in the life of the valley, has consistently followed a program of strong support for local organizations and activities. Some of the major contributions of 1974 are as follows;

- Provided employment for 49 valley residents who returned an annual payroll of $300,000.00 into the valley's economy. This number included nine college age students who were employed during the summer months.
- In 1974, at a time when money was in short supply, the bank increased its loans by 1.2 million dollars with $400,000.00 of that going into the real estate market, mostly for home purchases.
- Paid out almost ½ million dollars in interest to depositors, most of whom are valley residents.
- Financed construction of the new Pleasanton Civic Center Building providing greatly improved working quarters for the city staff and the beginning of a new civic center of which we can all be proud.
- Sponsored the Pleasanton Rose Show which has been held annually for 36 years since its founding by Firstbank.
- Effected the purchase of $200,000.00 in local school bonds plus $40,000.00 in other local bonds, which served to improve and advance the community.
- Sponsored many youth and adult athletic teams and activities including baseball, basketball, soccer, football and swimming.
- Contributed to many charitable funds and civic improvement projects such as the Mardi Gras, Amador Valley Scholarships, Inc., Twin Valley YMCA and Boy Scouts, Livermore-Amador Symphony Association and many others.

The Directors, Officers and staff of Firstbank are extremely pleased to be a part of this exceptional community and are proud of the opportunity to have a part in its advancement and development.

By doing your banking with Firstbank you are assisting in the continuation of these kinds of local support.

INFLATION-TAXATION

Inflation is really easy to understand, once you push aside all the confusing semantics that surround it and look at the simple basics.

Inflation means that the government expands, grows, inflates the amount of money in circulation. When more paper money is created by government, this new money, in effect, waters down the money you now have, diluting your buying power.

Inflation is the cruelest of all forms of taxation, because it strikes those that can least afford it — the elderly on fixed incomes, retired pensioners, middle class workers, the poor.

The people must cap the free-spending habits of our imaginative legislature. The legislature must live within a budget like the rest of the citizens have to do.

We need legislation to put a limit on the amount of money government can extract from your paycheck without voter approval — guarantee surplus tax money will be returned to the people — place a limit on property tax pending voter approval and that property tax will be assessed equally.

We need low interest loans which would allow more people to buy homes and start new businesses.

The best form of government, is a government of the people, by the people, for the people.

BART safety woes spark PUC probe

The Bay Area Rapid Transit District's recurrent safety problems are getting the immediate and close scrutiny of the California Public Utilities Commission (PUC).

PUC President Vernon Sturgeon Tuesday ordered new Commissioner Leonard Ross to head a probe of the troubled system.

Sturgeon said the investigation, begun in the hope "that a new broom (Ross) might sweep up something we missed," was prompted by the fatal Jan. 19 crash of a BART test train with a maintenance truck that was on the wrong track.

The crash killed workman Arthur L. Briggs and caused $700,000 damage.

Sturgeon also referred to a mishap Monday in which an empty and unattended BART car rolled freely through three Oakland stations, forcing a temporary shutdown of the system.

Albert C. Porter, assistant chief of the PUC's transportation division, said his staff doesn't keep track of BART's equipment maintenance or reliability. He did say that he was aware that 30 to 40 per cent of the cars that start in the morning wind up out of service by the end of the day.

"Anything that breaks down can be a hazard, and is a safety matter," said Porter. "The failure rate is extremely high."

Ross said he wanted all BART accidents reported to the PUC immediately from now on. He also said he wanted a separate set of safety rules drawn up for the transit district.

The commission approved Ross' motion to hire outside safety consultants to check on the transit system.

Meanwhile in Oakland, a board of inquiry listened to tape recordings of the Jan. 19 wreck. Tape recordings show workers apparently were confused over work orders.

The tapes, played to a board of inquiry Tuesday, show that maintenance truck operator Arthur L. Briggs of Richmond had trouble understanding his orders.

A central train control supervisor, John MacPherson, had to read the orders five times to Briggs, according to tapes taken automatically of their radio conversations.

Briggs was told to work on the northbound tracks at milepost 1.8 but couldn't correctly repeat the orders.

Later, but before the fatal crash, in a conversation to Briggs' supervisor, MacPherson said of Briggs, "The way it sounded like, when I was giving the orders, as far as I know, he didn't know what the hell he was doing."

But the supervisor at the Oakland shop, Johnny Simpson, told MacPherson, "Once he (Briggs) gets out there, I know he knows the track. What is he going to do? He was just all shook up getting them orders."

Simpson, sounding confused at times, asked whether Briggs had "goofed up."

MacPherson said he'd read the orders slowly and wondered if Briggs were new on the job.

At that point, Simpson said Briggs was just new on the radio.

Simpson also told MacPherson that Briggs operated the truck only in the case of an emergency, noting that some of his men were home sick.

Trying to determine the exact time of the crash from the tapes was difficult because there was no direct communication from BART central control and the maintenance truck at the time of the collision.

Briggs was killed but two other workers escaped serious injury when the truck, using the wrong track, was hit by a test train going an estimated 72 miles per hour.

The coroner's office has since determined that Briggs was under the influence of alcohol.

The board of inquiry is to resume in Oakland today at BART headquarters.

Meanwhile, BART directors this week are interviewing Midwest and East Coast applicants for the job of BART general manager.

Directors Elmer Cooper, John Kirkwood, Harvey Glasser, John Glenn and Nello Bianco are members of a special committee making the trip.

ANN LANDERS

Size cause for concern?

Dear Ann Landers: You printed a letter from a woman who was gypped by a company that advertised they could enlarge her bustline.

That letter was the major topic of conversation at a meeting I attended recently.

I was amazed that so many women were truly concerned about the size of their breasts and arguing the merits of various techniques for enlarging same — including surgery.

One woman (who was more than amply endowed), turned to me and said, "Isn't this conversation ridiculous? What good are voluptuous bosoms if a woman's mind is flat and small? Isn't that an insult to a man's intelligence?" Please comment. — Average And Content

Dear A and C: Unfortunately, dear, most men can see better than they can think.

* * *

Dear Ann Landers: I have held off writing for months — hoping someone else would send you my problem, and today I saw it.

I am in total sympathy with the woman whose minister husband didn't want any more sex My husband thinks the same way — and he's no minister. Far from it.

We enjoyed sex for over 30 years, then suddenly he went completely impotent This happened a year ago.

He gets angry if I mention my needs. Finally he went to a doctor — alone. The doctor said he was O.K. physically and gave him some pills. They didn't help.

Now my husband thinks I should "forget it." But I am being destroyed by his rejection.

He doesn't show any affection whatever. I can find no proof that he is running around. But it doesn't make sense that a man who has enjoyed sex for 30 years should drop it like a hot potato.

My anxiety is showing in my work. I have thought of divorce. What do other women do when their partner (at 50 years of age) wants to call it quits on their sex life? — Married In Name Only

Dear Name Only: Maybe you'll find your answer in the next letter. It's there.

* * *

Dear Ann: This letter is in regard to the woman who divorced her husband because he became impotent at 42. The same thing could have happened to me, had it not been for my wife.

She became more affectionate and understanding than ever before.

She turned into the aggressor and showed me that we could still have a satisfactory sex life in spite of my impotence.

At first I was quite passive. Then I began to be the giver as well as the receiver.

Many women don't realize that a man's sexual desires don't vanish just because he becomes impotent. Nor should the wife feel that she is unattractive to him and therefore responsible for the problem.

But some women know what to do about it — and some don't. Lucky for me, mine did.

A psychiatrist wasn't able to help me, but my wife, with her 10th grade education, was an expert on this serious marital problem.

I might add, I am still impotent, but happy, satisfied, and more in love with my wife than ever. — Most Happy Fella

Dear Fella: That was a most timely letter. I hope the man who wrote ahead of you can read between the lines and get the message. It's a good one and it could save her marraige. Thanks for writing.

IRS says 'Don't wait for rebates to file'

Frank Browitt, District IRS Director for Northern California, today advised taxpayers not to deduct on their 1974 income tax returns the tax rebate proposed by the President on Jan. 13, which has yet to be enacted by Congress. Returns should be prepared and filed according to the instructions that come with the tax forms and without regard to any rebate or similar plans now being proposed, he said.

Browitt explained that the plan proposed by the President calls for an automatic rebate based on a percentage of the taxpayer's tax liability for 1974. The amount of such a rebate can be determined by the IRS only after it receives and processes the taxpayer's return filed in accordance with the instructions that come with the tax forms. Any rebate adjustment made by a taxpayer will only serve to delay processing and issuance of the rebate.

Emphasizing that possible rebates being considered have no bearing on any tax refunds already due taxpayers for 1974, Browitt said that persons expecting refunds have an added incentive to file early. Refunds can be issued to early filers within four or five weeks after a return is received by the IRS, while it may take up to eight weeks to issue refunds to those who file close to the April 15 deadline'

The IRS said that since the proposal under consideration may involve the payment of a rebate later in the year, taxpayers who move from the address shown on their income tax return should promptly file a change of address notice with the post office in the area from which they move.

Chabot symposium will aid in understanding

HAYWARD — "Feeling Free To Be You and Me," a symposium designed to assist men and women in understanding themselves and each other more fully, will be held Saturday at Chabot's main camus on Hesperian Boulevard

The all - day program gets underway with registration at 8:30 a.m., followed by a welcome from Dr. Barbara Mertes, dean of the new Valley Campus of Chabot

Betty Ann Bruno, KTVU community affairs producer and hostess for such programs as "Open Line" and "On the Square," and Jim Dunbar, KGO radio and television anchorman, will be moderators.

As a follow - up to the issues and questions presented in the seminar, Chabot will offer a series of short courses dealing with perinent problems shared by men and women.

Immunizations set Thursday

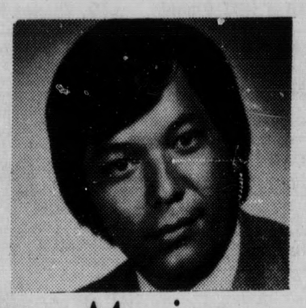
SAN RAMON — The Contra Costa County Health Department Immunization Clinic will be held at the Family Health Center at 9260 Alcosta Blvd, here on Thursday, Feb. 6, from 3 to 6 p.m.

Immunization against polio, diphtheria, pertussis (whooping cough), tetanus, (lockjaw), and measles will be offered. Rubella (German Measles) vaccine will also be available for ages one to 12.

For further information, call the county health care office in Pleasant Hill, 937-4100, Ext. 201.

San Jose man hurt

LIVERMORE — John Runcie of San Jose is listed in serious condition in the Intensive Care Unit of Valley Memorial Hospital with head injuries and a broken arm and leg following a solo automobile accident on southbound Hwy. 680 north of Sunol early Monday morning.



Moving

David Gordillo has been named assistant manager of the New York Life Insurance Company's office in Fremont.

Housing hearing set for Jan. 31

SAN LEANDRO — The housing committee of the Alameda County Human Relations Commission will hold a public hearing to develop county - wide housing goals Jan. 31 at the public library here at 300 Estudillo.

The hearings are held as the committee forms a comprehensive plan for future housing needs.

Valley Funk and Flash contest winding down

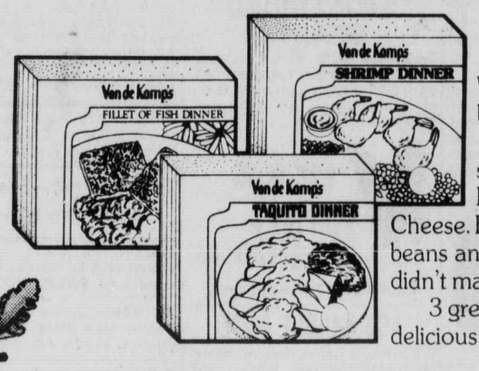
Introducing three delicious new dinners from Van de Kamp's.

All 7¢ off.



What a mouthwatering offer. 7¢ off every one of our new, bright idea dinners.

What's on the menu? First, an oven-fried Shrimp Dinner with seafood sauce and all the trimmings. Then, a crispy new Fillet of Fish Dinner, boasting fresh broccoli and our famous Macaroni & Cheese. Finally, there's our meaty new Taquito Dinner. It's got rice and beans and guacamole so good, we call it our "you'll never believe you didn't mash the avocados" guacamole.

3 great new dinners from Van de Kamp's. At 7¢ off, they're all as delicious a treat for your budget as they are for your family. Enjoy!
